Homes Are Wanted Here for Children

WANTED: Happy families; families willing to share that happiness with children.

Chance to build new life for a boy or girl under six years of age; rural family desirable, but not necessary.

One condition: child must be accepted as a member of the family group. Necessary expenses provided.

Because of inadequate facilities at the Children's Home for taking care of children under six years of age, Fayette County families are being asked to care for these children.

But the right kind of family is wanted.

Mrs. Madison A. Swope, caseworker for the County Child Welfare Board, emphasized each member of the family must agree to accept the child as one of the group.

Parents who will treat the child like one of their own children are the type being sought.

The limited number of children under six years of age at the Children's Home needs the emotional security of a family.

The love, attention and praise that helps children grow into well-adjusted and useful citizens can be given to these boys and girls by foster families.

After a short time in the new family, the child will develop a "feeling of belonging." This helps to give him the self-confidence needed in later years.

If a family can qualify, it is easy to become a foster parent.

President Called on To Fire Gen. Vaughan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) today called on President Truman to fire Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as coordinator of veterans affairs.

McCarthy based his demand on testimony about Vaughan at the Senate five percent inquiry.

The Wisconsin lawmaker said he believes he has no right as a Republican Senator to suggest that Vaughan be ousted from his job as Mr. Truman's army aide.

But he added that the president has "no choice but to ask Vaughan to resign" from his veterans affairs post. A presidential request for a resignation amounts to firing a man.

Senator Mundt (R-SD) told reporters, meanwhile, that because of the way Vaughan has figured in the Senate investigation "I am inclined to think the president will have a new military aide eventually."

Mr. Truman said at his news conference a week ago that his opinion of Vaughan had not been changed as a result of testimony to the special Senate subcommittee. It is checking on whether improper influence has entered into the handling of government business. The president on more than one occasion has stoutly defended Vaughan against criticism.

Since Mr. Truman's remarks last week, Vaughan's name has continued to bob up every day at the inquiry. Yesterday the committee got testimony that Vaughan went to bat, unsuccessfully, in behalf of a New Jersey company accused of violating a sugar rationing order in 1946.

In that effort, the committee was told, he teamed up with John Maragon, former Kansas City shoe shine boy who came to know many federal officials by their first names.

Modern Pied Piper Driving Dolls Out Of U. S. for Europe

SOMERSET, Pa., Aug. 18—(AP)—This is the day the Pied Piper drives the dolls out of Somerset. The rag dolls and the fancy dolls are leaving this western Pennsylvania town for a very good purpose. They are going to Europe to gladden the hearts of children who have no toys.

Peggy Reiley, woman's editor of the Somerset American, organized the campaign to collect dolls for Europe. She had more than 1,000 so far and expects 2,000 by the time she sails for Europe to distribute them in September.

A Pied Piper parade is the highlight of a three-day festival of dolls. Four girls, clad in the traditional flowing garb of the Piper of story book fame, will roam the town.

At the sound of their flutes, the children of Somerset, dressed like dolls, will run from their houses and follow the piper in a parade to the county court house and thence to the high school auditorium.

The auditorium looks like a toy shop with more than a thousand dolls on display. Each doll bears a tag giving the name of the donor. Also attached to the dolly is a postal card to be filled out by the recipient and then mailed to the person who gave the doll.

Dolls have been given by Somerset children and by people in every state of the Union and Canada.

Son Kills Mother With Iron Bar

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18—(AP)—A 60-year-old widow was beaten to death last night with an iron bar police said was wielded by her 28-year-old son.

Charles Johnson, chief Allegheny County detective, said the son, John Clancy, fled through a third story window and was the object of an intensive manhunt in the Pittsburgh area.

The victim was Mrs. Mary Clancy of suburban Ingram.

Drunk Prisoners Badly Beaten Police Brutality Probers Told

COLUMBUS, Aug. 18—(AP)—An attorney told the committee investigating alleged police brutality here yesterday that he had seen a policeman strike an intoxicated prisoner three or four times in the face because the man was unable to give his name.

Simon P. Dunkle, the attorney, described the prisoner as "terribly intoxicated, actually incoherent." He said the incident occurred in the city jail office.

Dunkle said the man, after being

'Fairness' Asked By Truman for Gen. Vaughan

Other Questions Are Answered at Press Conference

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—President Truman today asked the nation's press "in common fairness" to "suspend judgment" on Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan until his military aide is heard by the senators investigating five percenters.

EUROPE ARMS CUT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The House voted tentatively to slash European arms aid from $1,160,990,000 to $580,495,000 and cut off the program next June 30.

It was a stunning setback for President Truman's program for $1,450,000,000 in arms help for western Europe, Greece, Turkey, Korea, Iran and the Philippines.

With Vaughan standing in uniform behind his desk between two other aides, the president told a news conference that most of the testimony friendly to Vaughan has been taken behind closed doors.

While reading a statement on the Senate committee inquiry, the president also injected criticism of the committee for what he called leaks from the closed sessions.

When a reporter remarked there had been many open sessions Mr. Truman replied most of them have been behind closed doors, particularly when testimony has been friendly to his long-time friend and aide.

Permitting quotation, the president read this statement to start the interview:

"I want to say at the outset that I do not intend to answer any questions pertaining to the testimony (Please turn to Page Two)

Rent Controls To Be Eased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Housing authorities today stepped up plans to lift rent controls from one third of the areas across the nation which still have them.

Federal Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods called in his top lieutenants and regional officials to discuss the situation.

Officials said a determined effort will be made to lift controls first in so-called "borderline" areas—those where sufficient rental housing exists or soon will be available.

There are no immediate indication which regions they had in mind, and officials said such information will not be ready for several days.

Woods attributed the new action to a budget slash by Congress. He said the cut in funds for the agency's operation made it necessary either to fire one-third of the staff or decontrol one-third of the areas where ceilings exist.

Six Women Die Flaming Death In Crash Involving Soldiers

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18—(AP)—Six women died a flaming death early today when their automobile and a car of soldiers crashed into a transport truck between here and Camp Campbell.

George Womble of the Kentucky State Police said two of the three soldiers in the other automobile were injured.

Womble said the soldiers tried to pass the transport when their automobile rammed into the rear

More Grain Storage Space in Prospect

Prospects for more adequate storage facilities here for grain held under government loan today took on brighter hues in Fayette County.

Word has just come through that the government may spend nearly $150,000,000 for grain storage space this year.

At about the same time it was learned from reliable sources that Harry Silcott, chairman of the county AAA, was in Columbus

Reorganization Nearing Climax

Government Agencies Pulled Out of Hole

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—President Truman now has six of his first seven government reorganization plans in the bag.

The six will go into effect at midnight tomorrow. There probably will be no more reorganization action at this session of Congress.

The Senate late yesterday approved the final two plans about which there was any controversy. One reorganization plan No. 2, transfers the U. S. employment service and the related unemployment insurance service from the federal security agency to the labor department.

The other, reorganization plan No. 7, transfers the public roads administration, now in the general services administration, to the commerce department.

In both cases, the Senate voted down resolutions of disapproval—on No. 2 by a 57 to 32 vote, and on No. 7 by 47 to 40.

The Senate Tuesday handed Mr. Truman one of the severest setbacks of the session when it disapproved his reorganization plan No. 1 to create a new welfare department combining the functions of health, education and welfare.

The four other plans, in addition to Nos. 2 and 7, assured of becoming effective are: No. 3—providing for reorganization of the post office department at the top level.

No. 4—transferring the national security council and the national security resources board to the executive office of the president.

No. 5—Vesting administrative authority in the chairman of the civil service commission.

No. 6—Vesting administrative authority in the chairman of the maritime commission.

Funds Provided

Swift action on Capitol Hill pulled a number of big government agencies out of a financial hole today.

But nearly $300,000,000 in operating funds that should have been voted six weeks ago still were snarled up in Congress. Sept. 15 is the new deadline for solving the tangle—the third new deadline Congress has set since June 30.

Quick teamwork between Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) and McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the House and Senate appropriations committee (Please turn to Page Two) discussing the grain storage problem with federal agency authorities.

Silcott could not be reached for comment on the latest possibility for government-provided storage.

The county's AAA chairman has been plugging with government agencies for the county in Columbus, Washington D. C. and Chicago since long before the wheat harvest.

It also was learned that optimism over the prospects for increased storage facilities here is growing at the county AAA headquarters.

The new developments, which did not come as a complete surprise to those who have been in touch with them, brought a new ray of hope to those corn growers considering getting price-support loans on this year's crop.

Most of Fayette County's corn is marketed in the form of livestock—feed for hogs and cattle.

However, farm leaders have expressed the conviction that there still would not be enough storage space to handle all the corn for which loans may be sought.

The inadequacy of storage facilities here was felt first this year during the wheat harvest. Thousands of bushels, it has been estimated, had to be sold on the open market from 20 cents to 30 cents (Please turn to Page Two)

Lonely Hearts Killers Facing Death Penalty

Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez Found Guilty of Strangling Woman

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Plump Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez today were convicted of first-degree murder in the bludgeon-strangulation slaying last Jan. 4 of Mrs. Janet Fay. There was no recommendation of mercy. The verdict automatically carries a mandatory death penalty.

The jury returned its verdict in Bronx supreme court at 7:30 A. M. (EST) today, 12 hours and 34 minutes after it received the case last night.

The two defendants displayed no emotion when the verdict was announced by Fred D. Yobs, jury foreman.

The jury had been kept deliberating all night at orders of the court. Shortly before dawn they asked permission to go to bed, but the judge, stating it would not be convenient to grant the request, sent the jury back.

Mrs. Beck, 29, and Fernandez, 34, had no rest during the night. They were kept in cells in the detention pen in the courthouse. There were no cots, but they were reported to have dozed in chairs.

City Officials Seek Equipment

War Surplus Stock To Be Looked Over

City Manager Winston W. Hill, Councilman Richard R. Willis and Clyde Smith, head of the street maintenance department, were in Dayton Tuesday looking over war surplus equipment in the interest of the city.

County Treasurer Charles A. Fabb accompanied them, but strictly in the capacity of observer.

The city manager said what they were looking for in particular was street cleaning equipment. He added that he had learned the government had some pieces "that would seem to be just what we need." He did not go into further detail because, he explained, none of the Washington C. H. officials had seen it.

Councilman Willis expressed the belief—and the hope—that the city could be saved "several hundred dollars or more" if the right kind of equipment can be found among the stocks of war surplus available. If that can be done, the trip to Dayton, he said, would be "very successful."

Smith's technical knowledge and experience was being counted on to determine the usefulness of the equipment—if any is located.

Poland and Czechoslovakia have been clamoring for American machinery and equipment for the past year. The United States has flatly refused to heed their appeals for fear such strategic materials might be used for war purposes.

Secretary of State Acheson strongly supported the Yugoslav plea on the ground that the plant is vitally needed to prevent Yugoslavia's recovery program from collapsing and possibly causing Marshal Tito's downfall.

Acheson argued that the plant, a blooming and slabbing mill, would not increase Yugoslavia's steel making capacity to any great extent but would aid in refining and processing steel ingots turned out by the blast furnaces Yugoslavia already has.

Officers began chasing him after he was seen leaving the home with a billfold containing $75. Seven cruisers joined in the search. But the fleet Bolton eluded them for 30 minutes by jumping fences and running through alleys.

Then young Booth and Robert Palmer entered the chase. "We took off after him, too," Palmer said.—Booth on foot, Palmer on a bicycle. They cornered Bolton in an alley.

Foe of Stalin Given Okay to Buy Steel Mill

Approval Is Risky But Purpose Is To Check Soviet Grip

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—

—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia picked up new reinforcements to carry on his fight with Moscow today with assurance from the United States that he can buy an American steel mill.

After months of consideration, the administration granted the Yugoslav government an export license which it needed before placing the order for the plant.

The American decision represents the strongest and riskiest move taken by the American government to help the Yugoslav dictator since he split with Moscow nearly 14 months ago.

It also settled a long-standing argument between the national defense and state departments on whether shipment of a steel mill to Yugoslavia would endanger American security. Defense officials had frowned on the idea.

The decision to go ahead foreshadowed possible approval of a loan to Yugoslavia from the world bank, where the United States has a dominant voice.

Purpose of Move

Government officials who disclosed the approval of the Yugoslav plant request to a reporter said it was intended to help combat the tightening Russian-directed economic blockade of Yugoslavia.

Shipment of the steel mill, valued at $3,000,000, would mark the first time since the war that the United States has deliberately sent "war potential" material to a Communist-run nation.

Poland and Czechoslovakia have been clamoring for American machinery and equipment for the past year. The United States has flatly refused to heed their appeals for fear such strategic materials might be used for war purposes.

Court of Honor Set for Sept.

Scout Executive Bd.
Passes 1949 Budget

The boy scout court of honor will be held in the last week in September, it was announced at an executive meeting of the Fayette County District Boy Scouts last night.

The board also passed the 1949 budget and decided to submit it to the Community Chest for approval.

The budget for 1950 was also discussed and will be completed in a few days.

Paul Van Voorhis, board chairman, said that a roll call and inspection of every cub pack and scout troop in the county will be held at the court of honor.

"We want to have every member of every unit present for the event," added Van Voorhis.

Pennants will be awarded to the winning units. Units will be rated according to uniforms and appearance at the inspection.

Efforts are being made to secure Memorial Hall for the event.

The committee appointed in charge of arrangements includes Earl Henderson, Leo Fisher, district commissioner, Wendell Whiteside, chairman of advancement committee, and Robert James, assistant commissioner in charge of cubs.

Because there has been no fund-raising drive so far this year, the 1950 budget will be combined with this year's to make a two-year budget.

The budget for 1949 was set at $2,244.39 by the Ohio Central Council. This is based on the number of members, or "boy crop" of the county.

An increase in the boy crop in Fayette County will cause a boost in the 1950 budget to meet the added expense Van Voorhis said.

Frank Hess, representative of the Central Ohio Council, was present at the meeting.

He revealed that a national jamboree would be held from June 30 to July 6 next year at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

Delegates to the jamboree, a few from each county, will be chosen on a competitive basis.

Ray Graft, field executive for Madison, Highland and Fayette counties, also attended the board session.

Fred Rost and Earl Henderson were appointed co-chairmen of the committee which will nominate officers for next year's budget committee.

They will choose one more person to complete the three-man committee.

Reports were also heard from the representatives of troops in the county.

More Grain Storage

under the loan figures because there was not enough storage space.

Back before the war, metal bins were set up on what is now Washington Oaks subdivision, to handle Fayette County's grain surplus.

Whether the government's new plan for storage contemplates a similar program is still unknown.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has announced it probably will need space for 500,000,000 bushels. When bids were asked July 21 the agency said bins were needed for 50,000,000 bushels.

The agency has let contracts to 19 firms for the construction of 13,790 semi-permanent bins. These will have 112,837,640 bushels of space. The cost of storage was estimated at "under 30 cents a bushel."

The CCC is now considering bids for additional storage facilities and will make awards if the price is right and delivery can be made quickly.

Mrs. Lucy Bland Dies at Her Home

Mrs. Lucy Bland, 66, died Wednesday at her home in Jeffersonville.

The wife of Hanna Bland, she suffered a stroke 16 days ago.

Mrs. Bland was born July 10, 1883, at Grapes Grove and operated a rest home in Jeffersonville for two years.

Survivors are her husband, a daughter, Grace Sitworth from near Jamestown, a son, Glen Bland of Lebanon and a brother Edwin Klontz of Jamestown.

Services will be held 2 P. M. Saturday at the Friends Church in Jamestown with Rev. C. A. James of Jamestown and Rev. Miller of Jeffersonville in charge.

Funeral arrangements are under the supervision of Powers Funeral Home of Jamestown.

Burial will be in Jamestown Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday afternoon, evening and Saturday morning.

Reorganization

mitties ended a temporary financial emergency late yesterday for a long list of government agencies which have been waiting for passage of their regular appropriations since the new fiscal year started July 1.

Cannon and McKellar sped approval of a stopgap measure so about 40 government agencies can continue meeting payrolls and other expenses.

Officially the army, navy, air force, Atomic Energy Commission, Veterans Administration, interior department and more than a score of other agencies ran out of money at midnight Monday.

The emergency money bill went to the White House last night for President Truman's signature.

Three important money measures have not made even their first trip through the Senate. They include a $500,000,000 interest-free loan bill, a bill carrying $14,200,000,000 funds for the armed services, and a $160,000,000 catch-all deficiency measure.

When they do clear the Senate they will go back to the House for action on Senate amendments. Normally a Senate-House conference committee adjusts differences. Then both the Senate and House must again approve these compromises.

that has been given before Senator Joey's subcommittee.

"General Vaughan has already said that he will go before the committee and make a full statement on all the matters with which his name has been connected.

"I suggest, as the chairman of the committee has done that you gentlemen—and your editors—in common fairness, suspend judgment on General Vaughan until he has been heard by the committee."

sions, Mr. Truman said he had no further comment and told the newsmen to draw their own conclusions.

Other Questions

Asked if he would give his blessing next year to a reduction of income taxes and removal of wartime excise levies, he said he would have no objection if Congress can find a source of revenue to keep the government running.

He reminded his questioner that 80 percent of the budget is for fixed charges and the government must find money to meet these charges. A reporter said Senator George (D-Ga.) had suggested cutting the taxes.

Mr. Truman was asked if Secretary of Agriculture Brannan should not stay on the job here more instead of stumping the country for his farm plan. He replied that Brannan is available when needed and is on the tour at the president's suggestion.

As for the government's decision to grant Yugoslavia to buy materials here for a steel mill, announced last night, the president said the National Security Council recommended the step and he approved it.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The senate which talks so much it can't get its work done on time, is snarling up the government again.

The only way the government can run at all is on money voted by the House and Senate for the various departments and agencies.

The government does business on a fiscal year basis, with the fiscal year beginning on July 1 and ending the next June 30.

Since congress ends each regular year's job early in January, it's supposed to get its appropriating finished before the fiscal year begins July 1.

A lot of work goes into the appropriating. All the government agencies and departments tell congress early in January how much they'll need to run on for another fiscal year.

Then the appropriations committee of House and Senate hold long hearings where the department heads are questioned about the money they asked for.

The committees' job is to be sure the money is needed and to try to cut down the amount asked for.

When the committees finish, they send appropriations bills one after another up to the full House and Senate to be voted on. Each bill covers the money needs of one department of a number of departments and agencies.

This year the House had finished up its hearings, drawn up its bills, and voted on them all before the Easter vacation began.

Not the Senate. With its tongue wagging day in and out, it droned away time. July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year, edged close.

A batch of departments still didn't have the money they needed to do business in the new fiscal year. June 30 arrived. The Senate still hadn't voted appropriations for a big chunk of the government.

Since it was now June 30, how were the agencies going to do

Model Plane Contest To Be Held Saturday

Model airplane enthusiasts won't want to miss the big second annual model airplane contest at Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, on Saturday, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Wilmington. A number from Fayette County are expected to enter the contest.

There'll be thrills, spills and excitement for everyone at the meet, which will feature contests between all types of model aircraft, owned and flown by boys all over Ohio.

One of the few free flight contests to be held in the state this year will be a part of the program. There will also be control line speed contests, acrobatics, flying scale and a possible jet plane contest. Generous trophies and prizes will be awarded the winners in each class.

No entrance fee is being charged for the show, which will be held in rings set up on Runway 32 at Clinton County Air Force Base. The contest will be run on the basis of AMA rules.

Registration for entrants in the business or spend money which congress hadn't voted them?

To tide them over the emergency, House and Senate voted them enough money to keep on doing business until July 31, by which time, it was hoped, the Senate could clean up its appropriations.

But July 31 came and the Senate still was far behind schedule. Once more both Houses agreed to let the unappropriated-government departments do business, this time until Aug. 15.

Aug. 15 came around this week. The Senate still hadn't appropriated for the military forces or the Interior Department.

They're up a bit of a tree now. As of midnight, Aug. 15, several agencies had no legal right to buy anything or spend any money.

Since this is a real mess, both Houses probably will once more have to authorize those agencies to keep on doing business till they get their appropriations.

Room and Board

contest will begin promptly at 10 A. M. and the contest itself will start shortly after noon. Judging will be done by military personnel from CCAFB and Rotarians from the Wilmington Rotary Club.

New Hours Set For Draft Registrants

If you have to register for selective service, do so between 1 to 5 P. M. Wednesday afternoons or 8 to 12 noon on Saturday mornings.

These are the new hours, effective next week, at the draft board over the Morris Store, 115 East Court, announced Karl J. Kay, chairman of the board.

"Any person who wants to register and positively cannot make it during our new hours, should go to the probate judge's office at the Court House," said Kay.

Selective service officials cut the hours of the county board here because it was felt there wasn't enough work to keep it open more than eight hours a week.

Sales Show Gain In This County

Fayette County's sale of pre-paid tax receipts for the week ending August 6 were $8,717.06 or nearly $2,000 more than for the same week last year, indicating a sharp upward trend of buying in the county for the week. A year ago the receipts were $6,874.

So far since July first, sales have reached $30,534 compared with $32,436 for the same period last year.

However Fayette County is not alone in a small drop in sales for the period, for the state total is much less than it was during that period last year.

Steel Scrap Soars In Second Advance

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Steel scrap prices scored their sharpest advance of the year this week, the Iron Age, metal working trade weekly said.

Both steelmaking and foundry grades were strong, the publication noted. It reported the top price of No. 1 heavy melting steel up $2 a gross ton at Pittsburgh, Detroit and Birmingham; $1 higher in Chicago, New York and Cincinnati, and 50 cents higher at Philadelphia.

The iron age scrap steel composite claimed $1.17 to $2.17 a gross ton.

Little chance of steel price weakness in the near future was seen by the Trade Weekly.

Two Mounds Club Heads Acquitted

PAINESVILLE, Aug. 18—(AP)—The manager and the bartender of the notorious Mounds Club near here were acquitted of state charges that they illegally possessed liquor at the establishment.

A municipal court jury returned the verdict after deliberating 55 minutes.

The two, Thomas J. Farley, 56, the manager, and Emil Ray Rehart, 43, went on trial Monday. Previously, Rehart testified that unspiced, pink lemonade was the strongest drink served in the plush establishment that was raided recently.

Overland Limited Kills Six Persons

OGALLALA, Neb., Aug. 18—(AP)—Six persons were killed in a collision of their car and the Union Pacific's Overland Limited at a railroad crossing here.

Trainmen identified the dead as Ascension Jimenez, wife, two daughters and two grandsons.

The dead besides Mr. and Mrs. Jimenez were their two daughters, Dora, 21, and Margie, 12, and two grandsons, Augustine Jimenez, Jr., 3, and Carl Jimenez, 18 months.

Another daughter, Annie, 13, was taken to a hospital. Physicians expected her to live.

Inspectors Find Weevil In Wheat

Farmers are urged to inspect their farm stored wheat for weevils. Inspectors who have examined a Treatment of the grain to prevent weevil damage is urged immediately.

Happy Husband Accuses Wetalene of Stealing "Bathtub" Ring

At first he blamed prowlers — mighty thoughtful prowlers, to be sure — of walking off with the "bathtub ring." This Dayton, O., man hadn't heard that softening bath water with Wetalene, new all-purpose household cleaner, would save him the extra work of cleaning the bathtub after use.

Only two tablespoons of Wetalene to the bath! This is the suggestion of Wetalene Laboratories, Inc., in providing enough soapless suds to dissolve even the grime from junior's play-blackened knees and elbows.

But the beauty of this new cleaning magic is in its 101 uses for every household chore, housewives claim. No scrubbing, no rinsing, in washing painted woodwork, walls and floors. Faster cleaning action for dishes, pans, laundry, windows! They all say there's NOTHING like the new Wetalene.

So economical, too! Only 23c for 1 lb.; 59c for 3 lbs., and $1.45 for 8 lbs., at leading food stores.

Politics And Cutting Government Expense

Final passage by Congress of the strengthened military unification bill was accompanied by statements that soon after the bill becomes law Defense Secretary Johnson will start cutting hundreds of millions of dollars from annual military expenditures. This brought from Representative W. Sterling Cole of New York the statement that the bill is a fraud because it creates the impression that new powers were needed to effect economies, when in fact the same economies could have been

Four Principles

An experienced merchandise manager recently said, "There are four simple principles of running a store: (1) Find out what people want. (2) Have it. (3) Find out what people don't want. (4) Don't have any of it."

Those four principles have taken on an added importance, now that the buyers' market is back in most lines, and consumers are shopping around for the best deal for the money. And those principles were largely responsible for the development of American retailing to the high state of perfection and service it has reached.

Back of it all, of course, lies competition. It is the goad that guarantees good service and fair prices. If one store hasn't got what people want, they'll go down the street or over to the next town and buy it. If one store tries to charge prices which are out of line, trade soon becomes conspicuous by its absence. If a store is unattractive and run-down and the displays have a moth-eaten look, a "For Rent" sign may soon occupy the window.

Good merchants know that the era of shortages, when almost anything could be sold, even if it were shoddy, is over. They're acting accordingly.

brought about any time under existing authority.

A suggestion that there is more truth than falsehood in Cole's remark can be found in an incident which occurred in earlier debate. Powerful groups in the House showed unwillingness to give some of the requested powers to the secretary of defense, and thereupon President Truman made a public declaration to the effect that he could accomplish the same end by executive order anyway. Some of the House opposition then subsided.

Much of the talk about powers and plans for reorganization and economy is just talk. It is quite true that the powers already exist by which most of such changes can be made. The trouble is that everybody likes to talk about economy but nobody wants the responsibility for ordering it. When it comes down to brass tacks, both congressmen and administrative officials are afraid that economies would cause loss of more political strength than they would gain. Real savings will be accomplished only when they are all convinced that the voting public really wants and demands government economy, to the point of electing officials who will economize instead of just talking about it.

"I am getting more than a little tired," says Congressman Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, "of people who demand economy in government, but when you start to do something about it, they say try it some place else."

Human nature is like that. Some businessmen have been known to denounce government interference with free enterprise, and then ask for loans from the RFC.

'Little Blowhard' Does Anything

By Hal Boyle

NEY YORK — (AP)—Life has been a breezy round of gaiety since "Little Blowhard" came to our house to stay.

The neighbors drop in unexpectedly. Lost friends from bygone years look us up and stay for an enchanted evening.

Yes, sir, the world has been making a beaten path to our doorway. And it's all because of "Little Blowhard." He's boomed our social standing so high I don't see how the Blue Book can leave us out another year—unless its editors are overlooking us for pure spite.

"Little Blowhard" is an air-conditioning unit. He specializes in making the good old summertime feel as good as the good old wintertime. He throws heat out the window as fast as he finds it; just loves to re-weather the weather.

For years Frances has been threatening to get one of these gadgets. And I've fought against it—on religious as well as financial grounds.

"If the Lord meant Manhattan to be cool in the summer," I objected, "he would float an iceberg up the East River and blow a wind across it to make everyone comfortable."

"Don't talk nonsense on your days off from New York," said Frances. "Electricity comes from heaven, and they've figured out a way to use electricity to make a room cool. And, furthermore, the Lord helps those who help themselves."

From there the conversation drifted on to more important topics, like why hadn't I bought her an engagement ring 12 years ago and when, if ever, did I plan to get it? Soon there was a nice cool two-way breeze going.

Well, I forgot all about the matter until the other day I came home and opened the bedroom door. I glanced at the window—and it looked like the radiator of a speeding car was crashing into the room.

Instinctively I hit the floor. Just then Frances came in and said:

"What are you doing, rover boy looking for termites?"

"Duck — or it'll hit you," I said pointing at the window.

"Don't be a goose — that's our new air-conditioning unit," announced Frances. "Isn't it a nice surprise?"

I tried to tell her that it was foolish to buy a wind machine so late, since the worst of the summer was over. But it is no use arguing with wives or the weather. For the next five days a heat wave gripped the town.

"See, said Frances, every time the thermometer rose. And all it did was to rise.

"Little Blowhard" huffed and puffed like a polar bear choking on an ice cube. Three mornings in a row I woke up with icicles between my toes. Then Frances found that by turning a few knobs the little monster could be calmed down.

Our guests love him. They come at dusk and most of them leave before daybreak. They like to tease "Little Blowhard." They blow cigar smoke in his side, and he whooshes it out his front radiator in a filtered blue haze.

"I'm not running him down," said one guest, "but I know an air-conditioner up in the Bronx that can blow smoke rings. Of course, he's a year older than your little blowhard."

I've had a little trouble with another guest who wants to pour ice water and soap powder in "Little Blowhard's" side. Wants to see if he can manufacture snowflakes. But darned if I'm going to turn my bedroom into a ski slope for anybody.

U.S. Stuck with Hull Treaties

By George E. Sokolsky

For years and years the American people have been sold by their government a package labelled the Hull treaties. The idea is that a series of reciprocal trade agreements are entered into by the United States and a number of countries and that by the use of this mechanism, goods will move from one country to another.

Other Cordell Hull's original idea was to produce as close an approach to free trade as was politically feasible.

So we went along with this concept, letting all sorts of European goods into the United States, occasionally, as in the matter of Swiss watches, to the disadvantage of the American manufacturer. But now come the British who not only place an embargo on American goods in the British Isles, but throughout the British empire including our neighbors. Of course, that destroys the entire structure of the reciprocal trade agreements. Great Britain has adopted what Felix Morley has called "compulsory isolationism." That is they seek to isolate the United States.

Also, the British have been negotiating trade agreements, based on barter, with the object of eliminating the United States from those markets. For instance, the Anglo-Argentine trade agreement is a five year trade and payments arrangement based on barter and eliminating the dollars as the means of exchange. The Marshall Plan was designed to move American commodities, including meat, into England, but the British by-pass us to the tune of 125,000,000 pounds sterling each year for five years, if they can exchange British manufactured goods for Argentine meat on a barter basis.

Actually, the British agree to take 85 per cent more of Argentine's export of prime beef, mutton, lamb and offals and at least 50 per cent of such meat, as is suitable for canning or manufacturing. This gives an idea of the size of this transaction — and, of course, the Argentine will buy where it sells. In fact, the agreement says that Great Britain is to supply the Argentine:

"Coal, (8.5 million pounds sterling), iron and steel and their manufactures (7 million pounds sterling), transport equipment (25 million pounds sterling), machinery, including agricultural tractors (4 million pounds sterling), cotton piece goods (4.8 million pounds sterling), woolen and worsted yarns and manufactures (4 million pounds sterling), chemicals, dyes and colors (5.7 million pounds sterling), electrical goods (4.9 million pounds sterling), pottery, glass and abrasives (3.2 million pounds sterling), cutlery, hardware, etc., 2.35 million pounds sterling."

How much of this goods to be bartered the British will first get from the United States under the Marshall Plan and then use to drive this country out of the Argentine does not appear in the agreement.

The Argentine also will provide: "maize (20 million pounds sterling), other grain (3 million pounds sterling), oil cakes and meal (10 million pounds sterling), edible oils (9 million pounds sterling), edible fats (4.2 million pounds sterling), linseed oil (10 million pounds sterling), hides and skins (11.6 million pounds sterling)."

American sellers are being pushed out of both countries by this Agreement. While in the United States, we are off on a tangent about Peron, the British put over a deal with Peron to our detriment—and then they ask us for more Marshall Plan money, for aid to arm themselves, the detailed information on the atom bomb and much more. I am sure, than has yet seen the light of day. Socialists and wonderful askers.

I want to quote these two paragraphs from the official British statement on the subject:

"In the first year of the Agreement the United Kingdom also undertakes to lend all necessary assistance within their powers to ensure the supply to Argentine of 1,800,000 tons of crude oil, 3,750,000 tons of fuel oil and 250,000 tons of oil products, subject to agreement on terms and conditions negotiated between the sellers and the importers, the oil will be supplied by the United Kingdom oil companies and their associated companies to the existing importers in Argentine at current prices.

"The Argentine government have not been asked to give any undertaking that they will purchase oil to these amounts. It is open to Argentina to purchase oil from other sources, if so desired."

Very kind of them indeed. And where will Great Britain get this oil — in Sherwood Forest?

Diet and Health Digestive Disorder That Is Common

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OF all digestive tract disorders, none seems to affect more people than spastic constipation, a condition which gets its name from the fact that it is associated with prolonged contraction or spasm of the large bowel.

This type of difficulty usually but not always begins before the age of 30 and may continue for years, though periods of improvement occur from time to time. Abdominal discomfort is the rule with such patients. It may take the form of cramps in the lower left part of the abdomen or a feeling of fullness, symptoms which may be relieved by the passing of gas or belching.

Amebic Infection

A number of organic conditions may play a role in producing spastic constipation. Among them are amebic infection of the bowel, cancer, or narrowing of the digestive tube by scar tissue. Nevertheless, by far the most frequent cause seems to lie in emotional disturbances and in every case they must be given attention in the treatment of the constipation.

Before treatment a thorough examination should be made, including X-rays, so that any conditions contributing to the disorder may be found and eliminated. Then the relation between emotional disturbances and the condition is explained to the patient. He must be made to understand that just as emotions may produce such physical changes as flushing of the face, rapid beating of the heart, and sweating of the palms, they can, under other conditions, bring about rigidity and spastic contraction of the intestinal wall as well as congestion of its lining membrane.

Once he understands this, the patient will realize that actual damage to body structures is not responsible for his condition. Since worry causes further emotional tension, he should also be told that constipation will not lead to auto-intoxication.

If the factors in the patient's surroundings which have contributed to the emotional disturbances can be found and eliminated, marked improvement will take place. Sometimes a vacation period may be of value. A period of rest in a hospital may be helpful.

Quieting Drugs

Diet is of some value. A diet low in bulky or irritating foods is employed. Such drugs as phenobarbital which quiet the nervous system, may be helpful.

Whatever its cause, constipation is made worse by poor bowel habits, repeated enemas, or the constant use of laxatives. For this reason, it is of first importance that the patient stop the laxative habit and use diet, exercises, and the right habits to control the condition.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. M.: My gums have been receding. I am 30 years of age. What can I do to stop this?

Answer: You should consult your dentist about this matter. In many cases, the cause for receding gums cannot be found. It may be that you are developing pyorrhea. You should not delay in having treatment carried out.

Six Are Killed and Score More Injured

FULTON, Miss., Aug. 18—(AP)—

A heavy lumber carrier plowed into the center of an open-end truck loaded with a gay crowd of revellers near here spreading six dead and 20 injured along a 100-foot section of roadway.

Two of the injured, in a Tupelo, Miss., hospital, were reported in a "very critical" condition today.

Highway Patrol Inspector G. L. Hobbs said the lumber truck, driven by R. Y. Booth of Newburgh, Ind., rammed the other vehicle as it turned into a side road leading to the church.

The scene of the accident was about a mile and a half inside the Mississippi state line. All of the dead and injured were of or near Hamilton, Ala.

The revellers were members of the Church of God. They were being driven by the Rev. W. H. Cox to a church meeting at Tremont, ten miles east of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sollars Celebrate Golden Wedding

About one hundred guests extended congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sollars, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, when they entertained at open house to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The home throughout was transformed into a veritable bower of flowers in gorgeous arrangements which were gifts of their friends and beautiful wedding gifts were on display. Mrs. Sollars received the guests in a blue crepe frock and the orchid which she wore pinned at her shoulder was the gift of her sisters. The tea table beautifully appointed in silver and crystal was lace table cloth covered and the central adornment was a decorated anniversary cake topped with the numerals "50" in gold which was the gift of Mrs. Sollars' sister Mrs. Otto Allen of Loveland. Yellow candles in crystal candelabra, flanked the cake. The silver coffee service and the crystal punch

Club Members' And Guests Picnic At Allemang Home

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Allemang entertained the members of the Bloomingburg Wednesday Club and included their families at a delightful picnic on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. Kathryn Foster, Mrs. Verne Foster and Miss Burton Gossard assisted the host and hostess throughout the evening in the charming hospitalities.

Tables on the spacious lawn and in the garage seated the group for the sumptuous meal, which was served from one long table, centered with a large bouquet of blackeyed Susans and willow branches in a huge blue vase.

Small tables were also artistically decorated with a nest of holly, centered with one large zinnia blossom. Following a most congenial supper hour, informal visiting was enjoyed.

Members and guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott, Mrs. Alice Cory, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hains, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilson, Mrs. Alma Carmen, Mrs. John Groff, Miss Kathryn Gossard, Miss Olive Swope, Miss Fanny Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John T. August 7 Marriage Announced

Mrs. Ray Bentley

Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Wilt of Jeffersonville are announcing the marriage of their daughter Fern Ellen to Mr. Ray Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley of South Solon. The wedding was an event of August 7 at 11:30 A. M. and was solemnized in the Methodist Church in Milford with Rev. Ernest R. Rector officiating at the single ring ceremony. The lovely auburn haired bride chose for her marriage a linen suit of toast brown, a white picture hat and other accessories of white. The rhinestone earrings she wore were a gift of the groom and a corsage of gardenias and pink rosebuds was pinned at her shoulder. Mrs. Wayne Vannorsdall, of Springfield, a close friend of the bride was her attendant and Mr. Vannorsdall served as best man for the groom. Mrs. Vannorsdall was wearing a pink suit, with which she combined white accessories and her corsage was of pink throated lilies and pink rosebuds. The new Mrs. Bentley is a graduate of Jeffersonville High School,

Fresh crabmeat makes a delicious warm weather salad. For a pound of the fish use a stalk of celery (finely chopped), a green onion (finely chopped), and some thin strips of green pepper. Mix these well and add mayonnaise that has been flavored with a little finely chopped fresh herbs (such as parsley and chervil). Line a salad bowl with crisp greens and mound the crabmeat mixture in the center. Garnish with slices of sweet pickle, pimiento, olives, or radishes.

Leftover slices of meat may be arranged in a shallow baking dish, covered with gravy and topped with mashed potatoes, then heated thoroughly in a moderate oven. Sprinkle the potatoes with paprika before they are heated and then garnish with parsley sprigs just before the dish goes to the table.

For a quick supper serve macaroni and cheese with slices of luncheon meat and cole slaw. Dessert might be a bowl of fresh fruit, crisp cookies and a beverage.

Dinner Honors Rev. And Mrs. Buck

A covered dish dinner at the Sugar Creek Baptist Church, on Wednesday evening honored Rev. Raymond Buck, former pastor of the church and Mrs. Buck of Bonner Springs, Kansas, who are visiting parishioners in this community. Tables in the basement decorated with summer flowers seated the group of nearly 40 for the sumptuous meal, and following a most congenial dinner hour, congregational singing was held in the church auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Laris E. Hard sang a duet, and other solos were presented by Mr. Bill Schlichter and Mrs. Buck. An inspiring talk by Rev. Buck and informal visiting brought the pleasant event to a close.

Plenty of Cars To Be in Stock Rest of Year

Production Cut Expected When
Demand Eases Up

DETROIT, Aug. 18—(AP)—The auto industry will have a sizable field stock by this year's end, but it isn't worried.

A normal field stock means that just about any make of car may be had off the dealer's floor. That may happen before the end of 1949 but leading car makers say it will be only a temporary condition.

Counting upon the huge backlog of replacement demand, they say field stocks will be wiped out again early in the spring.

Of course, a tapering off in demand is coming to the car industry. When it comes a drop in production will not be far behind. Many industry experts say these things could happen any time after Sept. 1.

Earlier this year few persons close to the auto industry believed retail sales would hold up beyond mid-July. They even predicted substantial price cuts would be made at that time to stimulate demand.

At present, however, the industry's new car business is very good. Price cuts aren't needed to boost demand. And the industry isn't likely to make any substantial cuts until it knows what commitments it must make to labor.

Most industry sources are predicting that because of sales and production curtailment, more new model work will get under way after Sept. 1. Several more new models already are being prepared for early introduction.

Appearance of new models would ease any sales drop. New models always stimulate demand. And the stimulus will be greater if lower price tags are put on the new cars.

Optional automatic transmissions to be announced for several forthcoming new models will add to the manufacturers' production costs. Many of the cars to be fitted with the new transmissions will need increased engine power output.

Chevrolet is understood to have attained considerable volume in production of its new Torque converter transmission to be announced for 1950 models. Rumor has it, too, that Ford again is negotiating with Borg-Warner for a transmission device for the Ford models.

Despite complaints of high prices, car buyers still want automatic transmissions and other extras that add to delivered costs. Most sales chiefs say there has been no let up in the demand for added accessories.

There has been a lot of speculation in industry quarters about the probable price of the new transmissions for Chevrolet, Ford and other makes in the low price field. There hasn't been even a hint from the car makers.

The effort, of course, has been to keep the price down to the lowest possible level. A figure of from $125 to $140 has been heard in trade circle gossip, but it is wholly unofficial.

If the industry has succeeded in developing an automatic or gearless transmission to sell in that price area it has achieved something heretofore considered impossible. Some leading sales executives have admitted, however, that unless the price could be brought down sharply there wouldn't be much demand for the automatic transmission in the low price car field.

Automatic transmissions currently in use on the larger vehicles cost the motorist around $200.

Drowns in Creek

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 18—(AP)—Donald Williams, 12, of nearby Pleasant City, drowned yesterday while wading in a creek near his home. His brother, Marion, 9, was hauled to safety by Norville Perry, also 9. The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Williams.

Change Affects 200 In County

Compensation Law Is Explained

The second of a series of articles on the amended Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law, which was received today by Ward C. Miller, local BUC manager. Miller states that the number of employers subject to this law, in Fayette County, number approximately 200.

The article follows:

"The amendments to the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law, which go into effect Monday, will make no basic change as to the types of employers or workers subject to that law. Bureau of Unemployment Compensation officials stated today.

"Generally speaking, the employers of three or more persons now subject to that law will continue to be subject under the amended law. These employers will also continue to pay the taxes which support the Unemployment Compensation fund out of which unemployment benefits are paid. Workers do not now contribute to the fund and will not contribute under the amended law.

"Employers excepted from coverage and from tax payments under the Ohio Law, regardless of the number they employ, are governmental units, religious and charitable organizations and those employing agricultural, domestic and railroad workers.

"As of July's end, the number of employers subject to the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law totaled 73,875. As of that same time, it was estimated that well over 2,000,000 workers—about 70 percent of the Ohio labor force—were covered by the law.

"The balance in the Ohio Unemployment Compensation fund as of July 15, 1949, was $548,984,771. The fund is used only for the payment of unemployment benefits."

Seventy Guardsmen Bid Civilian Cares Adieu

Some 70 men from Fayette County will leave their civilian cares behind this week and begin a two-week stint living the lives of soldiers in an army camp.

Members of Company M of the Ohio National Guard, the men are scheduled to leave from Washington C. H. early Sunday morning.

They are to travel by bus to Cincinnati, where they are to board a train destined for Camp Atterbury, Ind.

An advanced motorized detail of more than 15 vehicles from Circleville, Chillicothe, Monton, Portsmouth and Washington C. H. left from here at 6 A. M. Thursday.

Some 20 men were in charge of driving the vehicles through to the big camp in Indiana.

In all, some 70 officers and men from Company M, which headquarters in Washington C. H., will be in summer camp at Camp Atterbury this year.

This is nearly half again the number of men and officers who left for camp last year.

Considerable preparation has gone into plans of getting the men to camp. Men and officers were given physical examinations Tuesday night and all were found to be in satisfactory condition to make the trip.

Churchill Suggests Extraordinary Meet

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 18.—(P)—Winston Churchill suggested today an extraordinary session for the European Consultative Assembly be called in December or January for the admission of Germany to the council of Europe.

Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister and her present Conservative party leader, said the admission of Germany would be the "greatest and most important of all the questions that are before us."

"We cannot part here at the end of this month on the basis that we do nothing more to bring Germany into our circle until a year has passed," he said.

Earlier, British Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison told the assembly he favored immediate steps toward unification of Europe, but he added that caution must be observed.

Arizona Minister To Speak Sunday

Rev. Hoy Canary, teacher in the Southwest Christian Seminary in Phoenix, Arizona, will be the speaker at the morning worship service of the First Christian Church here Sunday, August 21.

The public is invited to attend the service.

weapons have already been sent through to camp. Two cooks from Washington C. H. left Tuesday to help prepare meals for National Guardsmen.

Officers and men of Company M. will spend the first week getting schooled in machine guns, mortars and 75 millimeter weapons. The second week will be largely devoted to tactics and will include an overnight bivouac Thursday night and an inspection Saturday, Sept. 3.

National Guardsmen from Fayette County will leave camp at 8:30 A. M. Sept. 4 and will arrive in Washington C. H. about 4 P. M. the same day.

Company M is among the last companies in Ohio to go to summer camp.

Orders for the movement of both men and equipment was received here from the Regimental Combat Team Headquarters at Fort Hayes.

Hill To Assist In Yankey Case

Death Penalty Will Be Asked

Winston W. Hill has been asked by Prosecutor Darrell Hotte, of Highland County, to assist in the first degree murder trial of Cecil J. Yankey, 41, who was recently released from the Ohio State Penitentiary where he was serving time for the killing of Leroy Woodland, in Greenfield.

Yankey was remanded to Highland County early this week, by Judge Cecil Randall, in Franklin County, where a habeas corpus action had been filed.

Yankey was released July 20, on a habeas corpus proceeding, and had served 30 months of a life sentence. The release was on the grounds that Yankey had been illegally sentenced by one judge when he pleaded guilty to the first degree murder charge. A three-judge court is necessary in such cases.

Yankey studied law in the big prison, and discovered that he had been sentenced illegally, so he employed counsel to obtain his release, not thinking that he again would be tried and that the death penalty would be asked, which is now the case.

Yankey is now in the county jail at Hillsboro.

Hotte said W. W. Hill and Eugene Hahne, the latter having been prosecutor when Yankey was tried before will assist him.

State Government Employing 982,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(P)—State governments employed 982,000 persons in April and carried a $197,000,000 monthly payroll. The census bureau, reporting this, called it a record both in numbers and in pay.

Compared with 12 months earlier, the number of jobholders was up 6.1 percent or 56,000.

The payroll itself was up $25,700,000 a month or 15 percent for the period, largely because average pay went up from $185 a month in April 1948 to $200 last April.

State governments now have "nearly half as many employees as the federal government, and about one-third as many employees as all local governments combined," the bureau said. Their payrolls aren't, however growing as fast as in earlier post-war years, it added.

Schools—and mainly colleges, at that—were said to account for more personnel (30 percent of the overall total) and payroll (29 percent) than any other single function. Highways and hospitals together accounted (each almost equally) for another 23 percent of state employes.

The number of U.S. forest fires dropped 13 per cent during 1948.

Meat Prices Up And Vegetable Costs Are Down

Overabundance of Fruits Seen at Present Time

(By the Associated Press)
Retail prices of beef, frying chickens and top grade eggs were a little higher this week than last. Only a few fruits and vegetables in temporary overabundance at scattered market centers were lower.

The advances in beef ranged from two to six cents a pound and reflected wholesale price increases last week.

Some of the more popular cuts of pork edged upward slightly in a few places—but wholesale pork quotations had eased sharply by midweek and trade circles expected the retail downturn to begin by this week—end. Lamb and veal were generally unchanged.

Some market analysts expressed the opinion that farmers anxious to take advantage of present price levels would hurry their big spring crop to market weeks earlier than usual. This will take some of the buying pressure off beef, these sources reasoned, and thus speed the marketing of feedlot cattle which normally reaches its peak between late November and mid-December.

"In other words, the seasonal price cutting in meat that usually becomes noticeable to the housewife in late September should be well under way shortly after Labor Day this year," said an agriculture department spokesman in New York.

Top grade eggs were up two to six cents a dozen this week in many marketing areas. This season's upturn was expected to continue until early fall, "but an expected large egg production in the final quarter of the year is likely to result in an easy price situation then," according to a Bureau of Agricultural Economics report.

Peaches appeared to be the fruit most generally lower in price this week across the country and particularly in the northeast. Exceptionally hot, dry weather this summer advanced the harvesting two weeks or more in many areas. And the agriculture department estimated the nation's crop at around 75,000,000 bushels this year compared with 65,000,000 last year and the ten-year average of 69,000,000 bushels. Peaches were described as abundant and excellent in quality in virtually every section of the country.

Processors were reported speeding research in frozen fruit juices to cash in on the spectacular success of frozen concentrated orange juice. American Can Co., a major which most of the frozen orange supplier of the six-ounce cans in juice goes to market, said the sales volume of that product alone now exceeds the combined totals of frozen peas and strawberries—previously the frozen food leaders. The company estimated that in the approaching 1949-50 citrus season, the frozen orange juice pack will be nearly 20,000,000 gallons in Florida alone—and California also will be packing in volume for the first year. Since one box of oranges produces a gallon of concentrates, the Florida total would require the equivalent of 400,000,000 six-ounce cans. The frozen concentrate process

New Auto Drivers' License Law Is Loaded with Complications

COLUMBUS, Aug. 18—(AP)—Motorists with birthdays Sept. 30 can drive for two years on new operator licenses before getting three-year permits. But if your birthday is Oct. 1, your new license will be good for only one year.

That's how it works out under Ohio's new three-year driver license law passed by the last Legislature.

Here's why!

Present one-year licenses expire next Sept. 30. About 800 deputy registrars will begin issuing new driver permits Sept. 6. You'll have to have them to drive come Oct. 1.

The new licenses still will cost 40 cents. But for some that will be a bargain. They will be good through Sept. 30, 1950 plus the time between that date and your next birthday. On your next birthday after Sept. 30, 1950, you'll have to buy three-year driver licenses costing $1 each. All three-year licenses will expire on the holders' birthday.

To get the three-year license system started, the state will let you use your new license for one year plus the time to your next birthday without extra charge.

That's why those with birthdays Sept. 30 get a year's edge. New licenses issued next month become valid Oct. 1. If that's your birthday you'll have to buy a three year license if you want to drive starting Oct. 1, 1950.

But if your birthday is Oct. 2, you can use your new license one year and one day before a three-year permit is needed. Those with March 31 birthdays can drive a year and a half on the license they get next month. And those born Sept. 30 get two years' driving for the price of one.

Legislators decided on three-year licenses to end the usual September rush for driver permits. Toward the end of that month, long lines often form and lots of temporary help is needed to handle the crush. After September, the 800 deputy registrars will be cut to around 300, Bureau of Motor Vehicles officials estimate.

With licenses issued every three years, instead of each year, they

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

14-Foot Corn Near Here Is No Tall Tale

It was like looking up at a skyscraper.

There was the tip of the cornstalk, stretching 14 feet from the ground.

The ear of corn was nestled safely out of an ordinary man's reach at a height of about eight feet.

There are quite a few this size growing on bottom land belonging to James H. McWilliams of Circleville Road.

He has four acres of corn planted on a patch between Paint Creek and Washington Cemetery just off Circleville Road.

This is the first time McWilliams has planted the bottom land.

which the creek frequently overflows.

But the creek water stayed between the banks this year and the corn broke the fertile soil to dwarf the crops in the surrounding fields.

Most of the ears of corn in McWilliams' prize patch hang between six to eight feet from the ground level.

William W. Montgomery, county agricultural agent, said that the abundance of rain this summer has caused corn to exceed its usual height in this area.

But Mrs. C. L. Lewellen put it most aptly when, in referring to her brother's crop, she called it "stepladder corn."

Ohio Congressmen Recommend Imhoff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—A group of Ohio House Democrats have asked President Truman to appoint Lawrence E. Imhoff, a former Ohio congressman, as a Federal District Judge here.

Rep. Crosser, dean of Ohio congressmen, led the delegation, which also included Reps. Hays, Huber, Secrest, Wagner and Polk.

Hays said the president told them he knows Imhoff, and would consider appointing him. He said Mr. Truman made no commitment.

The Ohioans left with the president a letter signed by all Ohio House Democrats endorsing Imhoff for the job. It recalled that Imhoff, a St. Clairsville lawyer, is a veteran of both World Wars, former probate judge of Belmont County and former clerk of the county's common pleas court. He served in congress in the sessions of 1933-39 and 1941-43.

Boy Dies of Injuries

WOOSTER, Aug. 18—(AP)—Jack Gibson, 19, of North Lawrence, died yesterday at Massillon City Hospital of injuries Sunday when he fell from a diving board and struck his head on a drain pipe.

White fir lumber production has increased more than six times since 1940.

Last Nazi Faces Trial Next Week

BY GEORGE BOULTWOOD
HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 18.—(P)—One of Hitler's top generals, Erich von Manstein, will stand trial in Hamburg on Aug. 23 as a war criminal—his defense paid for by the charity of his conquerors.

He will be the 938th—and last—German to face a British military court on war crimes charges. Of his predecessors in the dock 655 were convicted and 192 sentenced to death.

There has been considerable controversy in Great Britain over the case because of the length of time von Manstein has been confined awaiting trial. He was captured at the end of the war after he had retired from the Germany army. Many prominent persons in Britain argued that the charges should be dropped, not necessarily because they are unjustified but because of the long delay.

When the government turned down their plea a fund to provide him with British defense counsel was started. Among the contributors was Britain's war leader Winston Churchill, who gave $100.

Von Manstein was born in November 1887 in the name of von Lewinski. He changed his name some time before World War II. There are 17 charges against him. The lengthy indictment has altogether 129 sub-sections, each detailing an alleged criminal act.

In 1939 Manstein was chief of staff to an army group commanded by Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt. He was then 52 and held the rank of lieutenant-general. In 1941 he became an army corps commander with the rank of general of infantry. From 1941 he commanded the German 11th army, and was promoted full general, then field marshal. He commanded army group don and army group south on the Russian front from 1942 to 1944. In March 1944 he was placed on the reserve at the age of 57.

The following summary of the charges was issued by British army of the Rhine:

"The first three charges deal with atrocities alleged to have been committed against Polish civilians and prisoners of war by units belonging to the army group of which he was chief of staff.

"Further charges allege his participation in the killing and maltreatment of large numbers of Soviet prisoners of war and in the deaths of many prisoners of war from neglect, starvation and disease. Further it is alleged that von Manstein forcibly recruited Russian prisoners of war into units of the German army operating against their own countrymen.

"The charges also allege that he participated in the crime of genocide in Russia, in the mass extermination of Jews, gypsies, and others by shooting, gassing and drowning.

"Other charges deal with his complicity in the indiscriminate and arbitrary killing of civilians under the pretext of suspected anti-German activities."

A special medical examination last May ruled von Manstein fit to stand trial. The same medical board ruled his war-time boss, Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, 73, unfit to be tried. Also let off for medical reasons was Col. Gen. Adolf Strauss. Both Strauss and Rundstedt are now in German hospitals.

Once there were four generals awaiting trial. But Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch, once commander in chief of the German army, died in the British Military Hospital here last October.

Russians Use Queen To Help Business

PRAGUE—(P)—A hammer-and-sickle toting beauty queen was elected during the "Radostne Day Stalinovcu" (Joyous Days of the Stalinists) held at the Big Stalin synthetic petroleum plant in northwestern Bohemia.

The "Joyous Days of the Stalinists" were held on the fourth anniversary of the handing over of the Stalin plant to the Czechs by the Red army. The plant was built by the Germans during the occupation of Czechoslovakia. Therefore, technically, it constituted Russian war booty.

However, it was given to the Czechs as a gift by special order of Stalin. Henceforth, every year the Communist-controlled Czech government holds a "thank you" festival. However, the Czechs built it to produce synthetic gasoline at any price. After the war, equipment for the production of subsidiary petroleum products had to be installed at great cost.

Ocean Off Florida Coast to Stay Warm

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(P)—Oldtimers expecting the ocean to turn cold early in August seem to be in for disappointment.

Nearly every year, Lifeguard Captain Don Kirkwood says, the temperature drops in August if southwest winds blow. They blow the warm surface water toward the Gulf Stream, allowing sub-surface cold to rise.

The change occurs only where the beach is white and wide and is not noticed at any other beach in the south, Kirkwood says. The water is still warm, however, with little likelihood of change.

Uncle Sam produced more than 11 million bales of cotton, 308 million pounds of wool, and 975 pounds of rayon in 1947.

Life on Thread For Velma West

Flapper Murderess Has Heart Trouble

By KEN DAVIS
COLUMBUS, (P)—Death has cut in half one of the more curious parallels in Ohio prison history. Red Rudner is dead.

The surviving half of this tough twosome—hammer slayer Velma West—is faced with the possibility of the same fate that befell the 51-year-old Canton man.

As she added another 24 hours to a weary trip through a life sentence, Velma West today must realize that time can run out before release from her life term can be effected through the state Pardon and Parole Commission.

The flapper era slayer, you see, also has a bad heart.

A heart attack killed Rudner last Wednesday—defeating his persistent attempts to obtain freedom. Velma West has been unable to work at the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville for many months because of her erratic heart.

Rudner, a flashy bootlegger of the prohibition era, and Mrs. West, husband slayer of the same wild years, never met. But, the bulk of their adult lives contained, strangely enough, a great parallel.

Rudner, convicted of second degree murder for participating in the notorious killing of publisher Don R. Mellett of Canton, was sentenced to a maximum life term.

Mrs. West, convicted of second degree murder for killing her husband with a hammer, was sentenced to five years to life.

Rudner never lost hope of a parole until he died. Mrs. West still hopes for freedom, is conducting a careful campaign of anonymity in the hope "the heat" will die down.

Rudner entered Ohio Penitentiary in March, 1927. Mrs. West killed her husband in 1927 and was convicted in December of that year.

Both developed bad hearts about the same time. Some months ago, Rudner was brought to the hospital at Ohio Penitentiary from London Prison Farm, where he had been for a number of years. Physicians felt the end wasn't too far off.

Subsequently, Rudner was transferred back to London Farm. He died in the farm hospital a few minutes after suffering an attack in the prison garage.

Rudner's funeral will be held tomorrow in Canton.

Mrs. West has been on part-time activity without a job assignment at Marysville for many months. White, gaunt, razor-thin, Mrs. West moves slowly, takes things easy in fear of death.

She is playing out the string for all its worth, hoping that she can last long enough to hear the Reformatory Superintendent, Mrs. Marguerite Reilly, say:

"You've been granted a parole, Velma."

While she waits for that word, Velma West asks herself if the sands of prison time will run out first—or second.

The Nineteenth Hole

Fields in all six flights of the championship golf tournament now approaching the windup at the Country Club here have been reduced to a mere shadow of the bulky list that started teeing off more than a month ago.

One by one, the entrants have been falling by the wayside as the elimination matches progress week after week.

The matches, all played without benefit of handicap, have developed some keen competition and some upsets. But, by and large, the favorites in each flight still remained in the running.

In last week's matches Noah Parrett beat Ray Warner 2 up; Paul Gessner beat C. Johnson 1 up; Larry Hunter beat John Rhoads 2 up; Paul Gessner beat George Fitzgerald 4 up; Don King beat Eugene McClain 4 up; Ray Brandenburg beat John Gerstner 2 up; Duke Bireley beat Bud Schlue 2 up; Jim Grinstead beat Joe Waddle 4 up and Bob Wise beat John Mitchell 3 up.

Dr. O. W. House and Don Denton were deadlocked at the end of 18 holes, so they carried the match over into the next week.

Ronnie Cornwell, the defending champion, is now waiting on the outcome of a match between Dr. Robert Hagerty and Red Reno to see whom he plays for this year's title.

Paul Gessner and Noah Parrett are to meet for the championship of the fourth flight.

Other matches coming up include: Bob Allen vs. Dick Korn; Duke Bireley vs. Don Brandenburg; Vic Smith vs. Jim Grinstead; Bob Wise vs. Bob Wehr; P. J. McCorkle vs. Ora Middleton; Ray Brandenburg vs. Bob Helfrich and Heber Minton vs. Larry Hunter.

Odds and ends from the notebook of Pro Tony Capuana:

Dan O'Brien flashed out Sunday in yellow slacks, yellow sun visor and yellow head covers for his clubs.

Chuck Cummings and Ervin (Rip) Van Winkle are back from their vacations.

George Fitzgerald is vacationing in northern Michigan.

When Ben Wright started to take up golf two months ago the pro told him he would do well to break 50 this season. Tuesday he shot a 46.

Austin Wise hit a 320-yard drive on No. 7 hole.

Bob Craig, Sr. and Terry Turner, his guest from Madison, Wis., beat Bob Craig, Jr. and Dick O'Brien—but the losers spotted the winners a stroke a hole. The winners said they would have trounced the boys anyway.

Viv Smith sank a 75-foot approach for a par 5 on the No. 5 hole.

Kenneth Harley turned in a card of 35—that's one under par and was his best for the season.

Gene Stanforth shot a par 36 for his best of the season. He used only iron clubs.

Brown Wants Clinton Air Base Retained

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Lancaster has filed a protest with the Air Force against any move to abandon the Clinton County Air Base at Wilmington, Ohio.

The Ohio Republican also has demanded that ample advance notice be given if his protest is overridden. His office here said Brown wrote Secretary of the Air Force Symington after learning of a report by subordinate officers that the base might be abandoned for economy reasons.

The subordinates told the Congressmen a definite decision would not be made until the air force appropriation bill has been passed.

The Wilmington base has been a center for air force experiments in artificial rain-making and in the testing of automatic pilot devices on long flights.

Hughey Beats VFW; Rain Balks Nightcap

The Hughey Legionnaires, sniffling the payoff of second-place, smashed out a 4 to 1 win over the VFW in the opener at Wilson Field last night.

The second game, which was to pit Heinz against Universal in

5-4 Victory Makes Rose Ave. Champs

Rose Avenue became the Knot-hole baseball champs when Robinett doubled in the last of the fifth to score the tying and winning runs to steal the game from Eastside by 5-4.

Robinett also pitched one-hit ball but Eastside led anyway going into the last inning, 4-3, before Rose Avenue's rally.

West got the only hit for the losers and N. Wilson had two to lead the hitters for the champions.

The teams are made up of fifth and sixth grade youngsters.

Indians Top Yanks In Winning Series

The junior-high Indians overcame a two-run lead in smashing out an 8-2 win over the Yanks to cap the deciding game of the series.

Rettig cracked out three hits in three trips to the plate to lead the winners while Robinett got two for three for the Yanks.

The Indians won the game on two three-run outbursts, in the fourth and seventh. Blair was credited with the win and Robinett suffered the loss.

Wild 17-16 Game Won by Rose Ave.

In a wild-scoring game, Rose Avenue shaded Eastside with a puny four-run rally in the last inning to win out 17-16.

Eastside showed what economy could do as they scored all their runs on just the four hits given up by McKnight.

Havens led the winners with three for three as the lead changed hands four times.

CHAPTER ONE
TIME and again, the plane was delayed, time and again the pilot set her down for an unscheduled landing on an emergency field. They waited out a brief, blinding April snowstorm over mountains, a thunderous, torrential rain farther on. All day the passengers had been restless, questioning the pretty stewardess every time she passed up or down the aisle, every time she said, "Fasten your safety belts, please, we are going to land."

There were men who looked at their watches and swore in several languages, men hurrying to complete a business deal, to meet a woman, to ask for a loan or a job or merely going home. There was a woman flying east to be with her daughter, who was going to have a baby; and she had had it by now, very likely. There was a little boy who had left his mother in California after a six months' visit and was on his way to visit his father in Connecticut for six months. A governess was with him, a haggard creature, weary of her well-paid position and of the innumerable questions a five-year-old mind could manage.

Some were impatient, some were frightened, none was resigned except possibly the girl halfway down the aisle, at the window. She was outstanding, not alone because of her appearance, which was unusual, but because of her serenity, relaxed, unbroken, undisturbed.

Each of her fellow passengers had looked at her a number of times. The women concentrated upon the sable coat across the back of the seat, upon the suit, soft gray tweed flecked with red, upon the string of pearls doubled and looped at the neck of the cashmere sweater. And they looked at her shoes, alligator, and matching her handbag, and were curious or envious according to their temperaments. But the men looked at her face and whistled in their minds.

She kept herself to herself. The man next to her had spoken to her early in the flight and she had answered him courteously with just the faintest possible accent coloring her low voice. What accent? He was not a man with an ear for accents and this had been so slight. He had not much opportunity to pursue his investigations, for she was definitely not encouraging, and after three trials he gave up, but was quick to look at her hands when she took off her gloves in order to eat her luncheon. They were ringless except for what might have been a very fine emerald—he was no judge of jewels.

The man across the aisle, who was a painter, was not interested in emeralds nor in accents. But he was interested in faces, and this face was peculiarly memorable. It was not beautiful in the accepted sense, the eyes were too large and of a most indefinable color, neither gray nor green, and the mouth was too wide. But the girl's coloring was extraordinary, the light eyes, an olive skin with rosy undertones, and the densest, blackest hair he had ever seen, not blue black nor jet black, but black as soot, unshining, heavy, seemingly soft as smoke. She wore it parted in the middle and coiled at the nape of her neck. It was perfectly straight and, though she wore no hat, as undisturbed as if she had just risen from before her mirror.

He judged her to be about twenty-three or -four. It was hard to tell. He thought, No one could be as placid as she looks. He longed for something to distress, anger or irritate her so that he could watch her face flash into life. But nothing, neither the delays nor the landings, neither the crying of a baby nearby nor the almost uninterrupted airlessness of the man with a bangover four seats away.

Twice, when they landed, she sent a wire. At all landings, scheduled or not, the passengers clustered in small groups, in waiting rooms or outside, briefly drawn together, but this girl walked alone and discouraged, without word or gesture, the normal friendly approach.

The painter asked himself, I wonder what she's thinking? She was not thinking so much as planning, or rather looking over her already formulated plans much as one might regard a list of household shopping. After her visit to Helen Lannis, she was promised to the Cotters in Asheville. That would bring her into the beginning of summer, which offered the Davidsons on Cape Cod or the Griswolds in Newport. There were various things to consider; she liked the Davidsons and tolerated the Griswolds. But Newport had its advantages.

She thought, One step at a time. And wondered, How many steps? Three months, six, a year? She might manage for a year; beyond that she did not know. And was suddenly, and savagely, homesick for hot sunlight and brilliant flowers, for brown faces and quick speech, for the smell of oils and spices, the chatter of bright birds, the splashing water in fountains, and for the smoking mountains and the thin pure air, for the heat and rain on a coast washed by a blue sea.

Forget that; it's gone; it will never come again. Besides, it was never yours for long. Long before they reached La Guardia the April sky was a pale, capricious blue, with low woolly clouds; toward twilight, it darkened, streaked with a clear, wintry green, and then the misty dusk came in like a dark bird and far beneath them were the lights of many towns.

It was night when they landed, and the woman who was expecting her first grandchild went distractedly into the arms of her son-in-law, crying, "Not yet!" and he answered, "No, but everything's all right, and you're in good time, Mother." And the five-year-old boy yawned and stumbled sleepily into the embrace of his father, who always dreaded their first meetings because the child so much resembled a woman they both loved. And the other passengers went away, met or unmet as the case might be, but the stewardess, too late to keep her date, decided she would call a number she had never called before, and did so later with disastrous results.

Only the painter looked for the girl with the sable coat slung over her shoulders. He had been curious about who would meet her—surely a young man, a man in love, or perhaps an older woman with white hair and elegance? But, he told himself, I should write fiction instead of painting portraits, for the woman who met her was thirty, small and voluble, a good friend of his as it happened. He had painted her portrait some years ago.

It amused him to step forward and interrupt the greetings. He said, smiling, "Helen?" Helen Lannis looked at him as if for a moment she did not see him and then cried, "You were on the plane too? I wish I had known."

She made the introductions. "Miss Austin, Mr. Southard," and added, "Why didn't you pick her up, Jim? It would have relieved the tedium for both of you."

"I didn't dare," he answered gravely. "I watched her seat-mate make the attempt and fail. Besides, sometimes Kate meets my plane. She couldn't tonight."

"May we take you home?" Helen asked, and Southard answered, "It would be very kind, if you have the time—and room?"

"All the time and room in the world. Frank couldn't come, he's in Cleveland. Terry, what's happened to your luggage?" Teresa Austin was carrying her handbag and a little jewel or cosmetic case. James Southard carried his own small battered bag. And Terry said, "It will be along. Just two pieces, but overweight, of course. I've sent the rest by express to your address, Helen. I'm afraid it's mountainous."

Helen was unperturbed. "You can sleep in the scullery," she suggested, "and put the trunks in your room. You must be starved, both of you."

"They fed us at intervals," Terry said, smiling.

Purdue University Cashier Arrested

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Aug. 18.—(P)—State police arrested the cashier of Purdue University and reported today he had admitted fleeing from Indiana with $2,000 of university funds.

Sgt. Erdman Stahl said the cashier, William W. Hollensbe, 39, told him he had taken $5,000 to $6,000 in the past three years.

Hollensbe waived extradition in circuit court today. Afterwards,

Have Questions On NSLI Money?

Some Answers on G. I. Dividends Given Here

GI insurance dividend forms will be available on August 29 at the postoffice and Veterans Service Center.

Veterans Service Officer Bernard Witherspoon announced this and other answers in an attempt to stem the tide of questions flooding his office.

There will be payments coming on all National Service Life Insurance held for 90 days between October 8, 1940 and December 31, 1947.

The amounts, said Witherspoon, will vary depending upon the amount of insurance and the length of time it was in force.

The average payment will be about $140, he said.

Veterans who do not know their insurance policy number should leave that space blank on the form. Do not write to the V. A. added Witherspoon.

Beneficiaries of deceased veterans do not have to apply. They will receive the payment automatically.

The process has been simplified and streamlined with a three-card form.

The first card contains instructions.

The second card requires the veteran's name, address, all serial numbers, branch of service, date of birth and G. I. insurance policy numbers.

The third card is a receipt which the VA will tear off and mail back to the veteran.

Witherspoon said that the American Legion has indicated it will also distribute the forms and other veterans' organizations will probably do so, too.

Pickaway Sheriff Pledges Support

Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Pickaway County, has given assurance to the Circleville authorities that he will do all in his power to stop the unnecessary noise of motor vehicles, in step with the war declared in Circleville, against noisy motor vehicles.

The officials also are urging the State Highway Patrol to take active measures to stop the unnecessary noise of trucks and other vehicles without adequate mufflers.

While Circleville police are giving warning to drivers until Aug. 25, and there already has been a drop in noise, Sheriff Radcliff said that his arresting of offenders will start at once without previous warning.

Overloaded trucks also are being given attention in the neighboring county.

Homes Wanted Here

(Continued from Page One) the Court House, she will interview any applicant about ability to provide a good home. She then makes a recommendation to the district head and a certificate is issued to the foster family. No family, legally, except relatives, can receive pay for taking care of a child, without a certificate.

Board and other necessary expenses is provided for the care of the child.

Since there have been cases of some families attempting to profit by boarding foster children, a state regulation provides a penalty for anyone deliberately trying to make a profit this way.

About 35 children have been placed in homes in Fayette County through the Welfare Board and the Children's Home.

Although there are about 60 children at the County Home, ranging in ages up to sixteen, the board is particularly interested in finding homes for the younger children.

Here is a chance to gain a world of satisfaction by providing the right environment for a child in his or her formative years.

More than food, shelter and rest are needed for personal and social development.

Four Arrested On Wednesday

Parents Are Held On Two Charges

Sheriff Orland Hays and Deputy Charles Foster made four arrests over Wednesday and as a result there are seven prisoners instead of three in the county jail at the present time.

Amos Johnson and his wife, Juanita of New Holland, were taken into custody on charges growing out of mistreatment of their children.

Johnson is charged with beating one of the children. His wife faces a charge of abandoning the children, one of whom is four years of age and the other only five months old.

Eugene Webb, released on bond a few days ago after arrest on a bad check charge, was picked up once more for writing bad checks. He was placed in jail pending arraignment before Justice P. S. Ludwick on the new charge.

Harry West also was taken into custody for giving checks without funds. The charge was filed by Herbert Ferren.

Business Outlook

ness fields, officials said.

With business men ordering more goods to sell in turn to their customers, factories can be expected to set up operations and in some cases recall workers laid off when orders thinned or stopped.

Leon Keyserling, of President Truman's council of economic advisers, said only yesterday that the country will have to get back to and exceed 1948 production levels to be prosperous.

Declaring increased production is easy and that the No. 1 problem is to lift consumption to the levels of productive capacity, Keyserling told a war veterans' luncheon:

"In the next ten years we must find ways to absorb 80 to 100 billion of additional goods unless we are going to be faced perpetually with rising unemployment and increasing under-utilization of our productive resources."

Without an expanding economy, in which consumption ability will furnish incentive for a 3 to 4 percent increase in unemployment without the nation will suffer a 700,000-a-year rise in unemployment without any letup, Keyserling said.

The stimulus to production expected to flow from renewal of business orders for inventory purposes was expected to help toward bringing the 1,000,000 increase in employment Secretary of Labor Tobin predicted Tuesday will take place during the rest of 1949.

Services Are Held For Mrs. Marine

Funeral services for Mrs. Hulda Marine were held Wednesday at 2 P. M., at the Hook and Son Funeral Home.

Rev. Charles Lyle of South Salem read the scripture and a poem, "Going Home."

Rev. Lyle then read a memoir written by Mrs. Marine. She had written memoirs for many of her neighbors in the Rock Mills community.

Mrs. Bruce King and Mrs. Harold McCoy sang the hymns, "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love" and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me."

Mrs. McCoy also played the recessional on the piano.

The pallbearers were Leslie Post, Joe and Willard Bonham and Harold, Raymond and Lewis Rogers.

The funeral home was filled with relatives and friends and there were many floral tributes.

Burial was made in the family plot in Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Among relatives from out of town who were here for the services were Mrs. George Berwanger and Mrs. Joseph Suhre of Columbus and Mrs. Olive St. John and her daughter, Rita, of Springfield.

Prisoners Beaten

Lt. Ramon T. George, legal officer at the Port Columbus naval air station. He told about an incident at the city jail involving a man whom he described as an "incorrigible individual... mean... vile... abusive."

Two or three policemen were holding him, George said, "but he shook loose, swung and hit a cop in the mouth." The policeman spit blood from a loosened or knocked-out tooth, the naval officer declared.

According to the lieutenant, two officers took the man to another room, returned three to five minutes later "dragging him by his heels, on his belly and with his arms trailing."

Lt. George said the man was unconscious and his face was battered and bruised and blood trailed from his mouth.

The naval officer said a policeman he was talking to remarked "He hit a policeman."

Lt. George told the committee the naval station was approached by the Bar Association in connection with several incidents. He said he told the association what he had seen and the bar group asked him to testify.

Lt. George did not identify those involved in the case he described.

Budget of $2,800 Set Wednesday For Perry Township

Perry Township trustees voted tentatively for a budget of approximately $2,800 for the coming year.

A budget hearing was held Wednesday at the township house in New Martinsburg but no one showed up.

Funds for the budget will be raised by a 1.45 mill levy which is outside the 10-mill limitation. Township trustees expect the levy to raise about $1,000 for the general fund and about $1,800 for the road and bridge fund.

Residents of Perry Township will vote at the general election November 8 for or against a one mill levy to take part in a county-wide program of fire protection.

tion with several incidents. He said he told the association what he had seen and the bar group asked him to testify.

Lt. George did not identify those involved in the case he described.

Funeral Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Edward Brown, who was found dead at her home in Sabina, Wednesday morning, will be held at the residence Friday at 2:30 P. M. and interment will be made in the Leeburg Cemetery. Rev. F. F. Hubbell of the Sabina Methodist Church will conduct the services.

El Ray Farms Takes Five First Places

El Ray Farms did all right Wednesday at the Franklin County Fair, according to Ray Brandenburg, owner.

Brandenburg cattle emerged with a grand champion title and four firsts.

First went to El Ray Farms for the top senior bull calf, best junior yearling, top summer yearling and for the best five animals in the herd division.

His farm took seconds in the bull calf judging, the junior yearling judging and the summer yearling division.
